The topic “Media Practice and Everyday Agency in Europe” is dedicated to the fundamental question: How is media change related to the everyday agency and sense making practices of the people in Europe? This volume consists of the intellectual work of the 2013 European Media and Communication Doctoral Summer School, organized in cooperation with the European Communication Research and Education Association (ECREA) at the ZeMKI, the Centre for Media, Communication and Information Research of the University of Bremen, Germany. The chapters cover relevant research topics, structured into four sections: “Dynamics of Mediatization”, “Transformations”, “Methods”, and “The Social”.

Contributors are (in alphabetical order): Aukse Balčytienė, Bertrand Cabedoché, Nico Carpentier, Fausto Colombo, Nick Couldry, Benjamin de Cleen, Rosa Franquet, Ane Møller Gabrielsen, François Heinderyckx, Andreas Hepp, Anne Kaun, Erik Knudsen, Leif Kramp, Friedrich Krotz, Risto Kunelius, Sonia Livingstone, Knut Lundby, Anna-Laura Markkanen, Dorothee Christiane Meier, Maria Murumaa-Mengel, Hannu Nieminen, Tobias Olsson, Svenja Ottovordemgentschenfelde, Riitta Perälä, Irena Reifová, Minna Saariketo, Andra Siibak, Ingvild Kvale Sørenssen, Christian Schwarzenegger, and Ilija Tomanić Trivundža.

The European Media and Communication Doctoral Summer School brings together a group of highly qualified doctoral students as well as lecturing senior researchers and professors from a diversity of European countries. The main objective of the fourteen-day summer school is to organise an innovative learning process at doctoral level, focusing primarily on enhancing the quality of individual dissertation projects through an intercultural and interdisciplinary exchange and networking programme. This said, the summer school is not merely based on traditional postgraduate teaching approaches like lectures and workshops. The summer school also integrates many group-centred and individual approaches, especially an individualised discussion of doctoral projects, peer-to-peer feedback - and a joint book production.
